

About The Editor

BRANT GOBLE

FOUNDER, LAYOUT SPECIALIST, EDITOR

Ever since reading Gogol's "The Overcoat" (many, many years ago), Brant has been an ardent short fiction fan, and this interest caused him to found Loosey Goosey Press LLC (of which GPR is a part) in 2007. Brant is an amateur photographer, didgeridoo player, and bassist (emphasis on amateur in all cases). At great expense, he earned a Journeyman's Certificate of Recording Engineering from the Musicians Institute and acquired a handful of (as of yet) unprofitable titles from educational institutions, certifying bodies, and government agencies throughout the country. Either hardheaded or masochistic, Brant is currently in graduate school. He hopes to live long enough to repay all of his student loans (but isn't counting on it).